

Press Release

Total, Borealis and NOVA Chemicals close their Joint Venture in petrochemicals

Houston/Vienna, May 24, 2018 – Total, Borealis AG (“Borealis”) and NOVA Chemicals Inc. (“NOVA Chemicals”) announced they have closed a joint venture in petrochemicals on the U.S. Gulf Coast after receiving all required regulatory approvals.

The company named Bayport Polymers LLC (“Bay-Pol”) is 50% owned by Total and 50% owned by Novealis Holdings LLC, a joint venture between Borealis and NOVA Chemicals. Diane Chamberlain is appointed President of the new entity. The Bay-Pol joint venture includes:

- the under-construction 1Mt/y ethane steam cracker in Port Arthur, Texas
- Total’s existing polyethylene 400 kt/y facility in Bayport, Texas
- a new 625 kt/y Borstar® polyethylene unit at Total’s Bayport, Texas, site, subject to FID

“We’re excited for the future of our new company. The partnership between Total, Borealis and NOVA Chemicals will create a major player in the U.S. polyethylene market,” said Diane Chamberlain. “We have a great opportunity to take advantage of low-cost feedstocks in the United States and deliver quality products that respond to the growing global demand for plastics.”

About Bayport Polymers LLC (“Bay-Pol”)

Bay-Pol is a joint venture 50% owned by TPRI and 50% owned by Novealis Holdings LLC, a joint venture between Borealis and NOVA Chemicals. The JV is the translation of the growth ambitions of each of the partners. It combines Total’s existing Bayport, Texas, polyethylene 400 kt/y facility with the Borealis proprietary Borstar® technology and NOVA Chemicals’ deep customer and technical expertise in polyethylene to deliver a broad range of products to help meet the growing global demand for plastic products. It also includes the under-construction 1Mt/y ethane steam cracker in Port Arthur, Texas, and a new 625 kt/y Borstar® polyethylene unit at the Bayport site following a decision on the outcome of an acceptable EPC contract.
